

Abstract

(Process for the condensation of polyamides)

The present invention relates to a process for the condensation of polyamides using an additive having carbonate units. This ensures a safe and fast condensation reaction.